

SERGIO IAVICOLI, MD PhD

Dr Iavicoli got his medical degree and Residency Program in Occupational Medicine at the University of Rome "Sapienza". He completed his PhD (Occupational Health and Industrial Toxicology), at University of Cagliari. He was Research Fellow at School of Public Health, University of California Berkeley (1995-1996).

Currently he is Director of the Research Department of Occupational and Environmental Medicine, Epidemiology and Hygiene of the Italian Workers' Compensation Authority (INAIL) - World Health Organization Collaborating Centre (WHO CC). Since 2003, he is Secretary General of the International Commission on Occupational Health (ICOH). He is President of the European Academy of Occupational Health Psychology (EAOHP) since 2012.

Member of national/international Committees including the Advisory Committee of the Global Network of WHO Collaborating Centers in Occupational Health, Member of the Partnership for European Research on Occupational Safety and Health (PEROSH) Steering Committee. Member of the Editorial Board of several scientific journals, book series and encyclopedias.

His research activity has been focusing on Stress and Psychosocial risk factors, Innovative Technologies, Aging, Occupational Cancer, Research Priorities and strategies, Cost Effectiveness of OSH interventions, OSH policies.

Lead Reviewer of the "Systematic review of exposure to long working hours and of the effect of exposure to long working hours on stroke" and Reviewer of the "Systematic review of exposure to long working hours on depression" for the Working Group "WHO/ILO Joint Methodology for estimating the global burden of disease and injury".

He is author of more than 850 publications including more than 200 in journals with impact factor